

Leila Jaffar

Leila Jaffar is founder and owner of Jaffar Consultancy in the Netherlands. This privately held firm specializes in training and consultancy services in the field of intercultural communication and conflict resolution. Leila Jaffar is acknowledged as one of the leading trainers in the field of intercultural communication and conflict resolution in the Netherlands. Her aim is to connect people from various cultures and backgrounds through her work and to bridge differences.

This has brought Leila during the last few years to extend her work to the field of media and music. Jaffar Consultancy has produced 4 feature documentaries for Dutch television and is currently involved in the development of several projects for Dutch television.

Together with the renowned Oud (Arabic lute) player Omar Bashir Leila has set up Nahawand Foundation. This foundation aims to promote music from the Middle East, classical Arab music and to facilitate encounters in the form of projects, concerts and masterclasses between musicians and styles from Europe and the Near East.
